These young men as they go out into the world and become figures in France of ten or fifteen years hence will have much to do, we hope, in bringing France and America even closer together than to take a certain number of American youths, sons of American soldiers who have fallen in battle, into the school as a sort of exchange, and train them in the ways of the French and in the Franch language. Another feature that the school is devoloping on the chateau domain is the use of American farm machinery so that French methods of

'DOWN EAST' HAILS

Competition Arouses Keenest Interest Among Shipyard Legions.

ENTHUSIASM RULES WORK

Boston Manager of Service Section Tells How Patriotic Pleas Win.

Dr. M. M. Graham of Boston, distric service manager of the National Ser vice Section of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation for the New England States, reported yesterday at the section's headquarters, 512 Fifth avenue, that interest in the ship poster competition is extremely keen among the shippard vorkers "Down East." "The first announcement made by

THE SUN about the contest was posted in shipbuilding plants and on munic ipal bulletin boards in many places," Dr. Graham said, "and employees who could draw and paint at once began to take notice. The poster proposition is now being taken up in many plants notably the Victory plant of the Beth ehem Steel at Squantum, Mass.; the Fore River, at Quincy; the Bath Iron Works, at Bath, Me.; the Texas Ship Yard, at Bath; the Cumberland Shipbuilding Company, at Portland, Me.; the Portland Shipping and Celling Company, Portamouth Quartermaster's Stores, Portsmouth Navy Yard; Bosto

"The men jumped into the contest just as soon as they heard about it, and I feel that you are going to hear some good news from them.

Power of Appeal.

"It is my personal opinion that ship posters are going to appeal most, as far as Massachusetts is concerned, to the more intellectual of the employees. There are a vast number of foreign born in most of the shippards and in-dustrial plants in my State who do not understand English at all. Down in Mains they are going to appeal to the rank and file, because there nearly all the workmen are Yankees of the old fashioned sort."

During a period of twenty-four days, four teams of National Service Section speakers and three volunteers under or. Graham's direction addressed 124,-000 workmen engaged in building ships or employed at plants that have to do with turning out material for the shipyards.

The enthusiasm of the men for the work they had in hand, following meetings at which they were urged to stick to their jobs for the sake of their country's honor and the success of the war was so great that at least five strikes in New England plants were called of after New England plants were called off after elaborate preparations had been made

"A Quartermaster's stores for the United States Army is being built at Navy, and an States Senator informed that the men on the job were going out on strike the next day. We Pierson E. C. Informed that the men on this good on strike the next day. We going out on strike the next day. We got up a meeting, and Capt. Cameron of Canada, speaking for the National Service section, made an address to 5,000 men. In the morning of that day 5,000 tons were unloaded. After the meeting 16,000 tons were unloaded in the afternoon during a similar period. And there warn't any strike the next day. This gives you an idea of what day. This gives you an idea of what day. This gives you are idea of what day is a day of the march of the first of that the first of this the first of this the first of this the first of this the first of the first of this the first of this transfer of the arise of the next are given and a charge of the quipment and a chapel and the picture equipment and a chapel and the picture equipment an day! This gives you an idea of what the National Service Section is doing for the shipbuilding programme and the country in New England.

"To my mind the ship posters resultng from the competition which the section is conducting through THE are going to help a lot in extendin Dr. and Mrs. Allen M. Thomas will be appeal to the men that they must stick This is the piedge that is repeated by workers in the New England States at the start off of each shippard meeting conducted by the men of Dr. Eaton's "I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation, indivisible with liberty and fustice for all." This is the pledge that the shippard workers of Detroit are now taking, and they are better Americans and better workmen each time that they repeat it: "I will do an honest day's work

"I will work six days a week and overtime if necessary.
"I will do whatever the President of the United States asks me to do. 'So help me, God. Amen!"

The ship posters and these pledge will pull together to defeat the Kaiser,

RED CROSS REWRITES K. OF C. WAR WORK POSTERS WITH JOY Plan in Effect Prevents Possible Use of Code.

The danger that traitors might comnunicate with Germany by means of apparently innocent messages sent through the Red Cross has made neces sary an important ruling by that organ sation. To prevent the possibility of valuable information reaching Germany, the American Red Cross, in sending let ters behind the enemy lines at the re quest of persons in this country, is folowing carefully a plan worked out by the State Department to prevent the possible use of a code.

United States who may wish to communicate with relatives in Germany must write out their messages in Red Cross chapter rooms throughout the country. The messages are sent to the division offices of the organization and then to national headquarters. There they are rewritten and the worlding charged in rewritten and the wording changed to break up and destroy any secret code that may have been concealed in the originals. The messages are then sent originats. The messages are then sent to the censorship board and passed or rejected by the board as the case may be. The promiscuous sending of letters through organisations in neutral countries could not be permitted. On the other hand it was undesirable to prohibit entirely the sending of communications.

Americans, Germans or others in the entirely the sending of communications, as that might prevent, for example, a loyal American from finding out whether sister, unfortunately married to a Ger man, were alive or dead. Prohibition of letters actually was in force for while, but so many appeals were rediction was lifted and the present eafe-guarded method put into effect. Nowadays the Red Cross is sending an average of 1,300 letters a day to pe living behind the enemy lines.

yesterday by THE SUN. Originally the Knights estimated that $30,000,000 would cover the needs of their war work, but demands from the war sones in France and Italy and from the great cantonments in this country have forced them almost to double the estimate. It is known that there will be a unanimous vote virtually in favor of the call for a $50,000,000 fund.
